-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Art Unit: 2653

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. §102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-11,13-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(e) as being anticipated by Itoh.

See Figs.2-4. Note, to the extent claimed, asymmetrical apertures 18a or 18b allows second ends 120a-d to performs to the same degree as claimed. Further note the construction indicated for the support in col.4, lines 14-21.

The claims also fail to define structure which clearly establishes the stated functional results: for example;

Art Unit: 2653

i) in claims 2&3 what claimed structure specifically causes or permits "the second ends of the conductors" to move out of the [support]plane or "bend independently with respect to the other ones"?

ii) in claim 18 how can the limitation "opening that is contoured to a shape of all of the second ends of the conductors" support the accusation that this then "[defines] a plurality of apertures for accommodating independent movement of all of the second ends of the conductors" when the supposed 'shape' has not been claimed structurally; etc.

3. Claims 1-11,13-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(b) as being anticipated by Erpelding(PN 5,631,786).

See Sheet 5 of Erpelding(...786). Note, to the extent claimed and understood, the structure as shown in Addendum A reads on and performs to the same degree as claimed. Further note the construction indicated for the support in col.5, lines 49-66.

Moreover, as finger 4 of Erpelding(...786) flexes, it would allow the conductors to independently move out of a plane defined by the support layer(shown in Addendum A), and depending on how finger 4 is moved, for example torsionally versus pure longitudinal bending, the conductors would experience small twisting and/or gimballing motions

4. For a complete response applicant should identify how the claimed structure of his invention defines over all the art of record.

Moreover, where the applicant disagrees with the reasoning and/or application of the prior art on critical points of the claims, they should identify how the claimed structure of their invention defines over all the art of record not just the applied art.

Where applicant believes that the art is redundant and/or superfluous relative to the critical aspects of the claimed invention the applicant may simply state so in rebuttal summary.

Also note, applicant's silence pertaining to claimed features will be taken as an indication that same is not of significant import in defining the scope of applicant's invention and may be considered as inherent in the prior art and/or obvious over the art of record.

5. If applicant has filed an information disclosure statement and has not received an office action that contain an initialed-off copy (or copies) of all such filed IDS's (or at least a comment to the disposition of such IDS'S in the body of the office action itself) applicant should apprise the examiner of such missing documentation [to the IDS's] in response to this office action so that the examiner can take appropriate action to supply same to the applicant.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
